

My wife and I are among the hundreds of thousands of citizens who are adamant in opposing your proposed changes which would permit the further consolidation of media outlets. The airwaves are in the public domain, and in our democracy, the FCC should be encouraging diversity in the media in our communities. FCC policies should continue the existing policies which preclude one company or corporation controlling all the media outlets in a given population center.